

LEARNING MOBILITY IN HIGHER EDUCATION

Trends, approaches and challenges

International conference / 6-7 October 2011 / Prague

Dear Madam / Sir,

We are pleased to invite you to attend the international conference Learning mobility in Higher Education: Trends, approaches and challenges to be held at the National Technical Library in Prague, Czech Republic, on 6 – 7 October 2011. The conference is organized by the Centre for International Services / National Agency for European Educational Programmes in cooperation with the Ministry of Education, Youth and Sports in the Czech Republic.

The conference will bring together a number of representatives from European institutions and associations, Ministries of Education, National Agencies, higher education institutions and universities, student organisations and employers.

The aim of the conference is to support discussion concerning the development tendency in mobility with focus on the current situation including existing mobility tools and programmes, examples of good practice, alternative forms of mobility, students needs and expectations and future of EU mobility programmes.

We would be very honoured if you could accept our invitation.

The draft conference programme is attached and more information about the conference is available on the website <http://learningmobility.webnode.com>, including the online registration.

We look forward to meeting you in Prague.

Yours sincerely,

Iva Tatarková

Director, Centre for International Services

Jindřich Fryč

Director General, Section for International Relations and EU Affairs, MoEYS

Annex: Draft conference programme

Conference website

<http://learningmobility.webnode.com>

